Reality Capture Network proudly announces R-CON 2025, a leading conference of its kind focused on the transformative power of digital technology in the built environment and beyond. Held at the Morrison Center for the Performing Arts in Boise, Idaho, this three-day event will spotlight the real-world application of reality capture, 3D visualization, digital twins, AI, robotics, and more.

R-CON 2025 Conference Highlights:

One-Stage Format - All keynotes, panels, and talks take place on a single stage to ensure every attendee experiences the same powerful insights and strategies - no competing tracks or missed moments.

High-Impact Speakers - Hear directly from thought leaders at organizations like AECOM, General Motors, ExxonMobil, and NASA Kennedy Space Center - with more to be announced.

Elite Networking - Designed for connection. Meet and engage with industry leaders, tech innovators, and peers from diverse sectors including AEC, public safety, government, energy, and healthcare.

Cross-Industry Collaboration - Built to unite professionals using spatial data and digital workflows across traditionally siloed industries.

Technology Showcases - See the latest tools and platforms in action — from scanning and simulation to geospatial analytics and robotics.

"This event is designed for connection. From construction sites to command centers, R-CON brings together the people shaping how we capture, manage, and use spatial data. If you're using this tech, or should be, this is your event."

— Matthew Byrd, CEO & Founder, Reality Capture Network

Grab a drink and join us at Kiln for AI talks, networking, and Hackfort updates. We're excited to feature two dynamic voices shaping how AI is being used today:

? Scott Falconer - Applied AI leader and author of Managing AI. Scott will deliver a rapid-fire talk, "Applied AI Essentials: 10 Rules for Real-World Success." In just 20 minutes, Scott cuts through the noise with hard-won lessons from the trenches of AI adoption. Learn why AI won't fix broken processes, how to shift your focus from hours to outcomes, and why everyone-regardless of title-is now managing AI.

? Steve Pentland - Researcher, professor, and founder of Rhetorix Lab. Steve will share how his startup is tackling one of education's biggest challenges: keeping students engaged and learning in the age of AI. With over 90% of students using GPT tools for assignments, his video-based assessment platform is designed to restore academic integrity, elevate student voice, and highlight the human skills AI can't replace. Beyond education, Steve will also explore how Rhetorix can be applied in industries like corporate training, recruiting, and certification, where authentic learning and assessment matter most.
